CINAHL: Cumulative Index to Nursing & Allied Health Literature

Conducting your search:

Begin by entering your search in the search boxes.

The “Search Options” area gives you some choices.

You may set any of the remaining limits. We recommend doing your search with NO limits at first – then adding the limits one at a time.
1. If you are looking for “Evidence,” try the Clinical Queries Limit.
2. If you have also run your search in PubMed you MIGHT want to check the Exclude MEDLINE records box.

Retrieving the Articles by using the Find it @UND button

Now that you have a completed search you will want to use the Find it @UND button to see which articles you can retrieve immediately and which articles you need to request through Interlibrary Loan.

When you click on you will get a screen that appears like the 2 below.

This screen gives you links to Full Text versions of the article. Click on any of the database links under the Full Text section and it should take you to a webpage where you have access to the article.

If no full-text is available, you can request a copy of the article through Interlibrary Loan (ILLiad - Library of the Health Sciences) – by clicking here.

For help with Interlibrary Loan (ILLiad), go the How-To Guide titled ORDER MATERIALS FROM OTHER LIBRARIES (INTERLIBRARY LOAN) at http://undmedlibrary.org/Topics/.
